

COPYRIGHT TRANSFER AGREEMENT

for Submissions to Journal of Microbiology & Biology Education – a publication of the American Society for Microbiology

Information Regarding Publication – 2009 Edition (date)

(Name of Primary Author)
(Contact info)

Other Authors:

Title of Article, Illustration, Image, or other Work (hereafter “Work”):

To maintain and protect the Society’s journal publications and to continue to afford science educators the opportunity to publish in high-quality journals, ASM requires that the Author sign this Copyright Transfer Agreement if your Work is to be published by ASM.

Publisher’s Agreement to Publish: ASM agrees to publish the above-referenced Work in consideration for this transfer to ASM of all copyrights in and to the Article, and the other provisions of this agreement. It is understood that the Author will receive no royalty or other monetary compensation.

Author’s Agreement and Representations: The Author hereby grants and assigns to ASM, on exclusive basis, all rights under the Copyright Laws of the United States and all foreign countries in and to the above-referenced Work, for the duration of all terms of copyright and any renewals or extensions thereof. This grant includes all derivative, republication, translation, electronic publishing and subsidiary rights of any nature, whether now known or hereafter developed. The Author reserves all other proprietary rights, such as patent or trademark rights, if any. The Author warrants that the Work is original and that the Author has full power and authority to grant the rights hereunder. The Author signing below signs for and represents that he or she has been authorized by any and all coauthors to act on their behalf for this purpose, and that he or she is a joint author of the Work or has been authorized by the copyright owner to enter into this Agreement.

Republication: ASM grants to the Author the right to republish discrete portions of this Work in any publication (including print, CD-ROM, and other electronic formats) of which he or she is author or editor, on the condition that proper credit is given to the original ASM publication. Neither the entire Work, nor significant portions thereof, may be republished in print, electronic or other form without ASM’s prior written permission.

Special Notice for U.S. Government Employees and Contractors: ASM understands that works authored solely by U.S. Government employees within the scope of their employment are not subject to U.S. copyright, and the transfer provision of this Agreement does not apply to any U.S. Government employee who authored or coauthored this Article as a part of his or her employment (who should be identified as such below). If the Article was created pursuant to a U.S. Government contract under which the U.S. Government has publication rights, then the above transfer is made subject to those contract rights. All other provisions of this Agreement apply to U.S. Government employees and contractors.

Agreed to By Authors:

Signed: _____

Printed Name: _____

Date: _____

Were (or are) any of the authors U.S. Government employees who wrote this Article as part of their employment duties? Please place a mark in the appropriate box below.

Author names:

(Author 1)

No Yes

(Author 2)

To Authors:

Please sign where indicated and return Agreement to MicrobeLibrary, ASM Education Department, 1752 N St. NW, Washington, DC 20036.